After the 2024 Elections: an online conversation for educators

Educators are invited to a free online gathering hosted by Elijah Hawkes and Monica Nachemja-Bunton of The Upper Valley Educators Institute: After the 2024 Elections. What will teachers, students and administrators be needing, thinking, wondering in the days after the November elections? How can school leaders and educators build sturdy containers for potentially challenging discourse – in our meetings, classrooms, and other spaces? Join other educators in grappling with these questions and more.
